The very existence and evolution of multilingual media in Canada is a rich expression of democracy that envelopes so many intrinsic Canadian values and experiences.

Throughout the generations, immigrant communities as well as second and third generations have derived considerable and necessary knowledge about this country from Canadian Ethnic Media.

Diversity is a national asset as is Canadian Ethnic Media.

Canadians who speak many languages and understand many cultures open international doors.

Canadian ethnic media is the key that unlocks doors for Canadians both here and internationally.

Canadian multilingual media helps ensure that integrated and inclusive citizenship will be every Canadian's inheritance.
